Description Sing a Song with Everyone is an interactive, lively and stimulating workshop for school children from year 2 to year 6. It can either be a follow on from Sing a song of Everything or stand alone. Piccolo encourages the children to sing together and introduces simple part songs, rounds and some harmonies depending on age and experience of the children. Working from a wide repertoire, the songs are traditional, calypso, Israeli and gospel. All learnt without words or the need to read music, encouraging children of all abilities to join in. Based on their work encouraging singing across the generations, Piccolo invites any staff, parents, grandparents and lunchtime staff to join in too. Their aim is to promote the idea of singing in the community and to use the school as a focal point to achieve this. Music and singing make the learning fun and accessible for all ability levels. The school will receive teaching notes , so that teachers can continue to utilise the material in subsequent lessons. Any interested adults, including parents, are invited to take part in these workshops to learn the songs.

Piccolomusic

Anna Scantlebury and Abi Cotton who run Piccolo, are specialist providers of singing workshops for young children, with over 9 years experience of singing in the North East. Conscious of the influence that music and singing games can have on children's social/emotional development, their approach is to make songs great fun and very visual as well as physical, so that children cannot resist joining in, whatever their learning strengths. All session leaders are experienced with working with young children and are CRB checked. Inset training also available by arrangement.
